

Name: Tristan Wong

Date: April 2011

Like a light in the Darkness

The sun is asleep

I am a fire burning hot like the sun

I leave an endless trail of light

Illuminating the night

In a black world

I am what you would call light

Glowing like the sun deep in the night.

A light, sparking in the shadows

I am a torch burning at the end of a tunnel

I am the truth when there is a lie

I take the form of a key opening a door of solutions

I am like a birthday candle that never blows out

I'm an idea when all seems lost.

Let's just say I'm like a light in the darkness